

The Rise and Fall of Cheap Nature

Work, Power, and Capital in Making and Transcending the Planetary Crisis

Jason. W. Moore

Sociology, Binghamton University and author of Capitalism and the Web of Life (2015)

Commentary from:

- Adrian Smith, Law and Legal Studies, Carleton University
- Tania Hernandez Cervantes, Environmental Studies, York University

"If nothing else, the climate crisis demonstrates that the history of capitalism is a thoroughly 'environmental' one. This energizing book proposes an inventive framework for making sense of that past, and for orienting ourselves as we get down to the business of changing the future."

- Naomi Klein, author of This Changes Everything and The Shock Doctrine.

Tuesday,
December 13th,
7pm
Steelworkers' Hall
25 Cecil Street,
Toronto

Sponsored by: Centre for Social Justice, Socialist Project and from York University: Global Labour Research Centre, Faculty of Environmental Studies, Department of Political Science and Department of Geography.